Best wishes for a happy birthday to George Ronchi, 13-F Ridge, who was fourteen years old September 24.

It's a pink bundle for Mr. and Mrs. Carl Aplin, 9-E Laurel. Sharon Marie made her debut September 10 weighing 7 lbs. 9 oz.

Mr. and Mrs. William Whitehead, 32-F Crescent, proudly announce the birth of a daughter. Eugenia Ann arrived September 10 and weighed in at 6 lbs. 11 oz.

It's a boy for Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Conway, 59-A Ridge. Jay Lawrence made his entry September 11 weighing 8 lbs. 1 oz. He joins a brother, David.

There's a brand new baby in the Harbaugh home, 2-M Research. Sherry was born September 14 weighing 7 lbs. 8 oz. She has three sisters, Diana, Linda, and Anne and a brother, Steven.

It's a daughter for Robert and Betty Cookson, 13-X Hillside. Cathie Jo arrived September 18 and tipped the scales at 9 lbs. 2 oz. She joins Bob, Chuck, Lynn, Richard, Douglas, and Allan.

The Jack Dixons, 2-C Parkway, named her Susan Michele. Susan was born September 18 (a birthday present for her cousin, Judy Boone, who was 21 on this all-important day). She joins a brother, John, who will be one year old October 1. Happy birthday John! Susan's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Dixon, 6-D Ridge. An aunt, Mrs. Peg Baldwin lives at 69-B Ridge and uncle Walter "Bud" Dean resides at 62-F Ridge.

A speedy recovery to Mrs. Ed Burgoon, 37-K Ridge, who was recently hospitalized.

Heartiest congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Seward, 35-A Ridge, who celebrated their 62nd anniversary.

Woman's Club Year Opens

The Club season for the Woman's Club of Greenbelt opened officially last Sunday afternoon (September 22), when more than 40 members and guests attended the annual President's Tea at the home of Mrs. Charles T. McDonald, 28 Woodlawn Way.

In response to the beautiful, "glistening" weather the affair was held outdoors. Everyone present thoroughly enjoyed the delicious refreshments served by the Committee — while they basked in warm, unexpected sunshine from three o'clock till five on that lovely, nostalgic, goodbye - to - summer afternoon. And the sartorially "perfect" were duly admired!

It will be many moons before the ladies of the Woman's Club have another meeting literally "under the sun".

The season's first Board meeting of the Club is scheduled for Thursday evening, October 3, at the home of Mrs. Frank H. Mixon, 6 Forestway. First membership meeting is October 10.

Duplicate Bridge

The Greenbelt Bridge Club has announced a change in its schedule. The next duplicate game will be played on Friday, October 11, instead of tomorrow night as originally planned.

Attention Kindergartners

All those who have registered for the proposed afternoon kindergarten class at Center School are requested to call Mrs. Kelly immediately 474-6655, as notification was received that five registrations were lost in the process of mailing.

There are still vacancies for this class which will open October 1.

Visiting the Stair family, 6-T Hillside, is Dot's mother, Mrs. Ruth Lohr of Westminster, Maryland.

Our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Mary King, 2-R Gardenway, on the death of her husband Edward.

Be sure and turn on your television sets Sunday, September 29 - Channel 7, WMAL. Fred "Ricky" Ford, age 14, 55-M Ridge, is among the competitors appearing on "Bowling Teens." The best of luck, Ricky.

Welcome to Sharon Rosentur, who comes to Greenbelt from California. Sharon will be living with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Mund, and cousin, Debby, 38-J Ridge. And a very happy birthday to this young miss who celebrates her twelfth birthday today.

Birthday greetings to Robert Belt, 4-A Gardenway, who celebrated his fourth birthday on September 20.

Connie and Pat Moore, 9-K Ridge, had a delightful vacation in Mexico City. This was Connie's first visit. A Spanish major at the University of Maryland where she is a senior, Connie lived with a Mexican family and spoke only Spanish during her stay. Patty studied in Mexico last summer.

Audrey and David Stern of 6-C Crescent wish to announce their first joint production, Ilana Stern. The coming-out party took place at the George Washington University Hospital in the wee hours of last Wednesday, and the debutantes tipped the scales at 8 lbs., 3 oz. Ilana sends her thanks to all her visitors and well-wishers, and her daddy and mommy are very grateful to all their Greenbelt neighbors who pitched in and helped during those first few hectic days back at home.

Charter Endorsed

The County Commissioners of Prince Georges County this month lined up solidly behind the Metropolitan Washington Council of Governments as the proper authority to regulate general development of Greater Washington, D. C.

In a unanimous vote, the Commissioners endorsed a proposed charter for the Council of Governments, which must be ratified by local jurisdictions and cleared by the U. S. Congress before becoming operative.

AGENDA

Special Charter Meeting

GREENBELT CITY COUNCIL

September 30, 1963

at 7:30 P.M.

1. Meeting called to order.
2. Oaths of office.
3. Election of Mayor.
4. Oath of Office for Mayor.
5. Schedule of meetings.

1292 Voters Go To Polls In Run off for 3 Council Seats

Holding on to the advantage gained after the first election, the forces of William L. Hoff, Lewis Bernstein, and Clifford H. Simonson swept to victory in that order in last Tuesday's runoff election. A total of 1,292 voters trekked to the polls, only 101 less than the 1,393 who voted the previous week.

The order of finish among the six participants in the run-off was the same as in the first election, except that Dick Pilski edged out Mayor Francis White for the fourth spot. The margin between the third and fourth spot was 61 votes, a wider gap than the nine votes that separated the two in the previous election. (The votes are given in the accompanying box).

The three winners now join Edgar Smith and Dave Champion who won council seats in the first election as the result of securing an absolute majority. The run-off was caused by the failure of any other candidates to get a majority.

The new council will hold an organizational meeting on Monday, September 30, at which time the new mayor will be elected. Although the charter is silent on this point, there has been a tendency in the past to choose the top vote getter as mayor. Smith was high man in last week's election by more than 100 votes over runner-up Champion.

W. Waverly Webb, chief of the circuit court, will be present to swear in the new councilmen.

There were relatively few surprises in the run-off. The winners picked up between 50 and 80 more votes, with the losing three picking up about 25 to 40 more votes. Simonson made the greatest gain between the two elections — 78 votes — and White the smallest — 25 votes.

The vote has been interpreted as a repudiation of the ruling majority on council. The only incumbent reelected was Champion who during the past two years has sharply dissented from the majority on several major issues. The newly elected councilmen ran on a program of preserving Greenbelt as a residential community, providing suitable controls over developers, and encouraging citizen participation through open council meetings and citizen advisory boards.

The turn-out for the run-off was considered exceptionally high. About 93 percent of those who voted a week ago turned out again last Tuesday. At the last run-off between Bruce Bowman and Ben Goldfaden in 1959 — 86 percent of the voters in the first election voted again in the run-off.

City Council Run Off Elections

	Number of votes	Percent of votes
William L. Hoff	709	54.9
Lewis Bernstein	669	51.8
Clifford H. Simonson	645	49.9
Richard R. Pilski	584	45.2
Francis W. White	583	45.1
Benjamin Goldfaden	541	41.9

City Notes

City Manager James K. Giese reports that the City has begun work on the new parking lot in back of the Center. If all goes well, it should be done in a month. There is still some seal coat work to be finished. The cut-through at the Co-op service station has been completed by the State Roads Commission. Giese noted that the City paid the cost but was fully reimbursed by Greenbelt Consumer Services.

An unconfirmed report indicates the new bus service to Greenbelt by WMA will start within the next month.

R. Stevenson will continue as Acting Recreation Director until the completion of his education (one more semester). The City Manager is now accepting applications for an assistant.

North End PTA

The North End PTA will meet Tuesday, Oct. 1, 1963, 8 p.m. at North End School.

A short business meeting will be held. Following the meeting Miss Eunice Burdette, supervisor of Elementary Education for the Prince Georges County Board of Education, will speak on "The Two-Grade Classroom." This will be of special interest to North End parents as many children are in split grades this year.

Brand New Council

One of the most hotly contested city elections in a number of years, with the largest percentage of voters to have turned out for quite some time, has come to a close. The result is that only one councilman out of the five incumbents has been re-elected, and we now have virtually a brand new council.

Since all five newly elected council members severely criticized the previous majority group on council, the new council must set out to prove that their policies and procedures will correct what the majority of the voters considered deficiencies in the former council. At the same time, no one expects the new council, which includes three members who have never served on council before, either to throw the city government suddenly into reverse gear or to step sharply on the accelerator. They will need time to plan their approach to fulfilling the philosophies on which they campaigned. They will be assisted in this by the usual honeymoon that is allowed a newly elected group.

By no means, however, can they expect continuous automatic applause for their decisions. They will also find that the responsibilities of office will force them to moderate previous stands and thereby arouse sharp criticism. Gradually they will find that even their ardent supporters will be unhappy with some of their actions. This is the penalty of public office in which, as one great man has said, you cannot please all of the people all of the time.

With this realistic view of the future, we wish the best of luck to the new council. At this point we have every confidence that they have the capabilities to fulfill their pledges to guide Greenbelt soundly and wisely in the critical years ahead, allowing our citizens to be fully informed and heard on all major issues.

PENSION PLAN

To the Editor:

In his latest letter on the subject of the GHI Pension Plan Mr. William P. Helm states "after reading John O'Reilly's letter last week, one is still faced with the question . . ." Apparently Mr. Helm agrees that everything I said was right except he still doesn't believe it.

In the letter Mr. Helm changes his strategy. Since all of his erroneous arguments have been completely discredited he gets more simple and only makes two claims - 1. That myself and other board members are against competitive bidding.

2. That if Pension Plan D including a standard rate of labor turnover were submitted for bids, GHI would save money.

He supports his first claim by stating that I and my "cohorts" voted against his motion "that we submit Plan D as specifications for sealed bids from any company that wants to bid on it." Since Mr. Helm has correctly quoted the minutes he should have noted that his motion said nothing about labor turnover, his present claim, or any other thing different from the presently approved plan. The motion was considered a delaying tactic and was voted down.

In order to realize that Mr. Helm 1. does not know what he is talking about or

2. is trying to obstruct the pension plan or

3. is trying to put other board members in a bad light, or all of these, one need only consider that the result of Mr. Helm's second claim would be to:

1. Subject the corporation to higher premiums later.

2. Eliminate the benefit guarantee by the insurance company. While I have spent many hours studying the pension plan (something it appears Mr. Helm has not done) and could discuss these and other points at great length, suffice it to say that the savings from labor turnover will be realized when and if turnover occurs. Also, since the employees are contributing voluntarily a large portion of the premiums it is only fair and just that we retain the guaranteed benefits feature.

POLITICAL PARTIALITY?

To the Editor:

As a resident of Greenbelt not involved in politics nor aspiring to be, I feel it is about time to speak out. It seems to me that there is quite an over-emphasis on politics in this city. The partiality that I have seen just for the want of a political favor can only be described as sickening.

The simple way to prove a case in point is to call a spade a spade and therefore show at least one clear cut case of this partiality. I live in 2 Court of Plateau Place and have seen a politician's wife call the Greenbelt police department concerning the following infractions of city ordinances: children playing ball on the playground, dogs running unattended and parking violations in the court. In all cases the police department responded and in most cases issued tickets to the parties involved. This is the way that these matters should have been handled since these calls involved infractions of city ordinances.

The complaint here is simply that I think and believe that these city ordinances should apply to all and not just a few.

Since this time this party has acquired a second car and parks both cars in court parking spaces. At this time at the entrance to this court was a sign which plainly stated that the parking spaces in this court were reserved and enforced by city ordinance. I checked with the police department and found that the spaces for parking in this court were assigned on the basis of one per home. At this time I complained to police chief O'Brien that the city ordinance was being violated in this manner.

After waiting a reasonable length of time for this violation to be corrected I went to the police station and spoke with chief O'Brien and asked him once more to enforce this ordinance and correct this violation. After speaking with chief O'Brien twice and receiving no results, I wrote him a letter explaining that this violation was continuing. Chief O'Brien's reply to my letter stated that he checked this matter himself and found no violation. I happen to know that he checked this matter during the day when one car was at work.

If he had bothered to check almost any resident in this court he would have been told that this violation did and still does occur. There are other residents in this court who own two cars, but in every other case they park the second car outside the court parking spaces. Since this time our court has been resurfaced and parking spaces have not been repainted. The sign at the entrance to the court still reads that the parking spaces are reserved by city ordinance. This can only mean that city ordinances in Greenbelt do not apply to a chosen few.

Space Monster Replies

(Editor's Note — The News Review has been besieged by letters from irate space monsters. Unfortunately, some of them have not identified themselves to the paper. We can only publish letters from space monsters who give their name, rank and serial number, according to the Geneva convention.)

To the Editor:

This is to request your esteemed publication to grant equal time to one who feels he has been shamefully slandered. I am the "space monster" referred to by Mrs. Irate Citizen in her letter to you last week.

Perhaps I should explain more fully. I am an officer of the Volunteer Rescue Squad of the planet Farfel II. In such capacity I answered what I thought was a call from your people last week. It turned out to be a false alarm, and instead of gratitude I received insults heaped upon indignities. Your females may have only four limbs, but apparently they make up for it in lungpower. Mrs. Irate Citizen need not fear that I will set feet in her house again. Her screams have shattered my nerves to such an extent that I have been under sedation since my journey to Earth. Nevertheless, I regret that I cannot again visit the room of her son. It was an archaeological treasure trove. Never have I beheld such a collection of bits and pieces of metal, wood, plastic, bone, hair, rock, feathers and every imaginable artifact known to civilization. I scarcely found room to place even two of my legs. It seems incredible that one small member of your species has been able to accumulate such an amount of matter over the period of only nine revolutions around your solar system.

What I resent most is the rank discrimination against my species merely because of our superior endowment of legs. I ascribe it to

GREENBELT CITIZENS FOR FAIR HOUSING

We, the members of Greenbelt Citizens for Fair Housing, believe that Greenbelt is a good place in which to live. It is physically well-planned to meet the varied needs of our modern community. Here we find friends, bring up our children, work together, play together; in short, engage in most of the things that make our lives meaningful. We citizens of Greenbelt are a diversified people with varied backgrounds: ethnic, religious, and social. We are even multi-racial to the extent that we include Orientals and Indians in our community. Each of us contribute to the wellbeing of our community. The end result is a thriving and viable democracy. It is this democratic tradition that we are imparting to our children.

Clearly the most valuable asset to our community is the people who live here — either for a short time or for the major portions of their lives. Yet it is here that we fall short of our own democratic and religious ideals, for our community excludes, without exception, all members of one race — the Negro race.

We say that democracy is fine, but we stop at that point. We believe in fair play and moral and religious ideals, but we go no further. We stop there for many reasons, only one of which is racial bias. Mostly we stop because of fears of property value decline, formation of ghettos, downward trend of property maintenance, social conflict, etc.

Yet despite all the fears, we all know that in the future — perhaps even the near future — Greenbelt will be integrated. There are too many legal, economic, moral, and political forces at work on the national, state and local levels to expect Greenbelt to be by-passed by this social revolution. Still, our community is doing nothing to prepare for this inevitable transition. We of Greenbelt Citizens for Fair Housing hope to fill this vacuum.

We believe that the transition to a fully open community can be accomplished in an orderly and sensible manner, with preservation of property values and the other qualities which make Greenbelt a good place in which to live. Whether or not a satisfactory transition will be accomplished depends on the people. The choice is ours. To accomplish it will require the enlightened efforts of all members of our community. We of Greenbelt Citizens for Fair Housing are dedicated to this end.

Therefore, our objectives are as follows:

1. To promote community acceptance of minority group families.
2. To sponsor forums, workshops, and neighborhood coffees to provide information about the experiences of other communities into which Negro families have moved for the first time.
3. To preserve property values by combating rumors, allaying fears, preventing panic, and resisting block-busting sales tactics.
4. To provide the opportunity for the exchange of views and discussions of open housing as it would affect us individually if a Negro family moved next door.
5. To petition City Council to address itself to the issue of Fair Housing in Greenbelt.
6. To assist Greenbelt in taking its place with other communities which have adopted open housing policies successfully.

Back Pain In Sports

Serious, disabling injuries of the back are unusual in sports, if you have a sound spine to begin with.

But there are certain people, in fact, a good many, who are plagued with inborn spinal defects that should rule out football and other sports in which there is considerable risk of back injury.

The American Medical Association's Committee on the Medical Aspects of Sports points out that congenital (birth) defects of the spine that don't cause obvious visible signs often aren't recognized in childhood. When the boy or girl becomes active in athletics, pain in the back or spasm of the back muscles may appear for the first time.

If there's a young athlete in your family who often turns up with an aching back after an afternoon of football, don't take a chance on the discomfort stemming from merely a strain or sprain. Consult your doctor for medical advice as to whether football may be dangerous for your boy.

To the Voters:

We wish to thank all citizens who worked and supported us during this election.

We also want to wish the new council every success in the coming two years.

Please be assured of our continued interest in the future of Greenbelt.

Sincerely,
Francis White

Sneezes and Sniffles

"Sneezes and Sniffles," a 10-minute color film, shows how youngsters can spread colds and illustrates some ways to lessen the risk of colds and prevent the spread of germs.

The film describes the symptoms of the common cold and advocates that children with colds should stay in bed and keep warm. Since colds may affect the sinuses, bronchi or lungs, a doctor should be consulted if cold symptoms persist.

Some of the germ-spreading habits shown include sneezing and coughing without covering the nose and mouth, touching objects which have been used to cover a sneeze or a cough, wetting fingers with the tongue to turn pages, drinking from another's straws or glasses and taking bites from another's food.

Suggestions for building resistance to colds include eating regular, well-balanced meals; getting fresh air and sufficient exercise without over-exerting; washing the hands thoroughly; dressing sensibly; sleeping enough to restore the body's energy - the film recommends ten hours nightly as the usual amount needed by children.

Animated charts show how the nasal structure, pharynx and digestive system combine to defend the body against cold germs.

The film emphasizes that cold remedies should not be taken without first consulting a doctor, no matter how convincing the advertisements may be.

The film, suggested for elementary through high school age groups, is available without charge to Marylanders through the film library, Health Education Services, Maryland State Department of Health, 301 West Preston Street in Baltimore. The Health Department recommends that borrowers preview the film and arrange to have a discussion leader.
